Paris Air Show, Le Bourget, France, June 18th, 2025

Safran and Revima strengthen their landing gear collaboration

Safran Landing Systems and Revima are pleased to announce the renewal of their spare parts supply and technical support agreement.

Today, Olivier Legrand, Revima Group's President & CEO and François Bastin, Safran Landing Systems CEO have signed a long-term contract to support REVIMA's two landing gear repair & overhaul facilities (France and Thailand) including spare parts, access to OEM technical publications & engineering support for the maintenance of landing gear across a wide range of Airbus aircraft.

The agreement reinforces the collaboration around historic programs such as the Airbus A320ceo and A330, while paving the way for the future with the landing gear models equipping the Airbus A320neo and A330neo as well the main landing gear for the Airbus A350-900.

"We are delighted to extend our longtime partnership with Safran Landing Systems, in support of the significant activity we enjoy on multiple Airbus platforms and of the new generation Landing gears that gradually require MRO. The close and strong relationship with Safran Landing Systems goes back many years, and we look forward to reinforcing it further" said Olivier Legrand, Revima Group President & CEO.

"We truly value our long-term partnership with Revima and we are delighted to sign this Support & Services Agreement, enabling Revima to further develop their Maintenance, Repair & Overhaul (MRO) activity" said Darren Waite, Executive Vice President, Customer Support & Services Safran Landing Systems.
